

Many of the radio stations that I listen to do not offer traffic reports except in the morning hours. What I like about the satellite is that I can easily switch to it at any given time and hear the current conditions. With most news channels you need to wait until a specific time to hear the latest updates and more times than not, I will have missed my area due to the actual time that I tuned in. I also like to know in advance of the conditions before I get in the middle of a delay which would then cause me to be late for an appointment. Too many people today are paying more attention to their cell phones and clocks which in the end causes the problems on the road. I seriously believe that you should reject NAB's petition 04-160 and allow XM to continue to provide the most up to date traffic and weather on their system. It is a benefit to all of us.
